That is more than 2 billion people

Everyone who has access to the internet can own and use crypto-currencies.

Cryptocurrencies can be bought from various exchanges and will be stored in digital wallets.

The value of a coin is based on supply and demand. The bigger the trust and usability the higher the demand, hence the value. Fix the number of coins generated from a code that can not be counterfeited.

Faster and cheaper transactions for both individuals and businesses regardless of place and time.

Governments have a real interest in low-cost digital payment solutions - they want to make payments to the poorest. They need to identify them and get the money out to them efficiently.

WHAT IS BLOCKCHAIN?

- Most cryptocurrencies are based on innovational blockchain technology.

A blockchain is a public ledger of all transactions that have ever been executed. It is constantly growing as 'completed' blocks are added to it with a new set of recordings. The blocks are added to the blockchain in a linear, chronological order.

To use conventional banking as an analogy, the blockchain is like a full history of banking transactions. Transactions are entered chronologically in a blockchain just the way bank transactions are. Blocks, meanwhile, are like individual bank statements.

What is MINDCHAIN?

- Yes !! MINDCHAIN Blockchain: Secure BFT (Byzantine Fault Tolerant) Consensus Protocol for Asynchronous Networks. Mindchain is a Binance-based token, which means that it is compatible with the vast Binance ecosystem. According to the developer, the Binance blockchain was the perfect host for Mindchain. Since it is secured and well-established, it allowed the project to stay decentralized.
- MINDCHAIN is Peer-to-Peer Electronic Cash System
- MINDCHAIN leverages several cryptographic algorithms to provide reliable and secure privacy protection. For some applications, MINDCHAIN uses efficient additive homomorphic encryption schemes. For more involved applications, MINDCHAIN supports fully homomorphic encryption mechanisms. MINDCHAIN also developed a MINDCHAIN DAP System. The MINDCHAIN Decentralized Anonymous Payment system (MIND CHAIN DAP) combines the idea of coin-join and transaction encryption to achieve an anonymous payment that protects the privacy of payment address, amount, and receiver address. The MINDCHAIN DAP uses "Pedersen Commitment" homomorphism from the BGN06 encryption scheme to verify the transaction amount and enable the transaction payee to decrypt the ciphertext directly without additional communication. In addition, MINDCHAIN DAP adopts the neoteric NIZK certification technology named Bullet Proofs to verify the transaction value interval as well as the BGL03 aggregated signature (OWAS) and the coin-join technology to protect users' identity privacy. By deleting the independent transaction signatures and the public keys of the encryption scheme, the number of transactions stored in the block is increased. An example of MINDCHAIN DAP is presented in Figure

- Contract code storage: The hash value of the smart contract is recorded on the chain, and the complete contract code is stored off-chain with a hash value index. When the contract is executed, the code is loaded from the outside of the chain. Since the hash value of the contract is already recorded in the chain, even if the code is loaded from the outside of the chain, there is no need to worry about the contents of the contract being tampered with. This allows the node to save more space for storage and can also protect the content of smart contracts to a certain degree of privacy at the same time.
- Contract code execution: The MINDCHAIN virtual machine adopts a memory-safe and platform-independent instruction set standard based on Web3 Assembly that can be mapped to all types of CPU architectures perfectly and efficiently. The contract's instruction set runs in a virtual container which imposes strict restrictions on computing resources and program steps to ensure secure execution of the contract. MINDCHAIN is currently a BEP20 token.
